SPECIAL SESSION

The City Council Met Monday Night
To Consider Several Important Matters.

Pursuant to a call issued and signed by the requisite number of City Councillors,
a special session and caucus meeting were held Monday night in the Council Chamber for the purpose of considering some important matters.

The call was amending two ordinances passed at the last meeting of the Council and to procure an assessor's book, and the first business was the amending of the ordinance relative to the improving of Second street from the East side of Union to the west side of Carmel, which was to have been done by reconstructing it with asphalt. The ordinance was amended by changing the word "asphalt" and inserting "vitified brick." This change was made in order to get bids on both asphalt and brick for that thoroughfare, several members claiming that a number of property owners along the line to be improved desired brick, and of course, it was only fair to get bids on both for the benefit of those who will have to foot the bill. The amendment was adopted by a unanimous vote.

The next business was an amendment to the new "liquor" license ordinance.
It is proposed to strike out the 4½ gallons in the original ordinance and insert one case.

The city assessor's book was the next special session to be disposed of,
and the procuring of one was placed in the hands of the ways and means committee. At this juncture Member Thomas of the First ward, arose and asked the mayor whether or not City Assessor James Stewart,
who was elected by the new Council,
was a resident of Maysville or of Cleveland, as he had heard that Mr.
Stewart was a resident of Ohio, and if so,
he was not eligible to hold office in Kentucky. This had the same effect on the quiet meeting of Council
as some one who had let a monkey-wrench get away from him and slide into a set of gear wheels on a rapidly running machine, for it was the means of breaking up the special meeting, as Member Easton questioned
the legality of such a procedure,
as Council had not been called to consider that question.

In order to get at the matter, the special session was adjourned and the members went into a caucus meeting, pledging themselves to stand by the business transacted concurred at the regular meeting. It was encensed to leave the matter of investigating Mr.
Stewart's place of residence and whether or not he had voted in Ohio to the ways and means committee with Mayor Lee and the city attorney added, and what action they took would be concerned at the regular meeting of the City Council.

As this was about to end the meeting,
City Attorney Culbourn made a statement to the caucusers that if they would express their willingness to back him up, he would draw up an ordinance creating a sinking fund for the city, in order that the street paving bonds could be disposed of to the various banks of this city. He explained that the city would be compelled to pay for the street intersections of the proposed improvements and about $3,600 worth of property that was not worth the improvements, and in order to make a saving of a considerable amount to the city and property holders a sinking fund, to which the city would add $1,500 annually for ten years, with a slight addition to take care of the interest, would insure the safety of the banks and they would buy the street paving bonds, and when the work was done the contractors could be paid in cash, thus enabling them to bid on the work and be sure of no bad debts.
In doing this he thought the saving would be from 16 to 20 cents a square yard lower than the bids last year.

He was instructed to go ahead with the ordinance, and the Council to a man would sustain it.

Before a motion could be made to require Chief Mackey to screw up the press table to keep the wobbly out of it and build a fence around the press
boys to keep some of the members from spilling tobacco juice on their good clothes, the caucus caucused.

PENNIES BIGGER THAN DOLLARS.

If you were to travel from Canada to the Gulf, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, we doubt if you could find anywhere traits of character more admirable than those possessed by our own home people.

And yet even we are not free from many of the vagaries that beset human nature, and especially is this the case in determining the relative value of the penny and the dollar.

Not long ago a warm personal friend dropped a penny in a puddle of soft mud. It was only a penny, worth but one cent, yet our friend promptly dived into the ooze and rescued that penny and restored it to the safety of his pocket. He felt better after the ordeal.

In the back yard of that same friend was a lawn mower of expensive make rusting its life away in the rain when it might just as well have been oiled up and put away in a dry place to await the coming of the green grass of summer. The expensive lawn mower represented only an expenditure of dollars, while the penny was cash in the puddle of mud.

Another admirable friend, noted for his acute business acumen, will walk from one end of town to the other in order to save a penny in the price of a twenty-five cent article. It is good business. But we have noticed valuable machinery and implements belonging to that man standing out in all kinds of weather, the iron encrusting the rust that ends in gradual disintegration and the woodwork rotting from constant exposure. A penny saved and dollars rotting and rusting away.

We know of a certain farmer in this county (a mighty good man too) who doesn't take his home paper because it costs a few cents a year. He is great on saving pennies. Yet on his farm, if you take the trouble to drive by, you will find wagons, movers, rakes, tedders, machinery and implements of every kind still standing with out a particle of shelter, some of them actually in the fields. Rust will soon get in its work and push this expensive machinery on toward the junk pile.

We might go on and enumerate cases by the dozens, cases of people known to you all. The story is much the same however, whenever you go or turn.

The immediate penny is saved at the expense of the dollar of tomorrow. We fish around in the slimy ooze in search of the dropped penny, consuming our time and energy for a paltry cent when by a little effort and forethought we should be prolonging the life and usefulness of articles that cost many dollars.

The value of a dollar is a hundred times that of a penny, and yet there are times in the lives of us all when we give more heed to the penny than we do to the dollar that we feel.

But then these are just a few of the vagaries of human nature, and we are all intensely human.

RULE OR RUIN AGAIN?

Leaving out of consideration altogether the question of whom Mr. William Barnes is to support for the Republican presidential nomination or whom he is to oppose on his prospective "swing around the circle" for missionary work among the party leaders in the west, there is cause for grave concern in this statement of the purpose which animates his action, given on apparent authority in the morning news:

"He intends to fight along one line: Let us stick to old time Republican principles and take another licking rather than give an inch to the Roosevelt crowd and accept victory."

This is no time for either "the Barnes crowd" or "the Roosevelt crowd" to pursue a policy of rule or ruin. The thing for the factions of the Republican party to do is to get together to prevent a continuation at Washington of the spineless policy of tesseration in our foreign relations which has smirched the good name of the United States. The keynote of ex-Senator Root's speech at Carnegie Hall was compromise for this admirable purpose. Any deviation from that party policy by either faction will result in the further disgrace of the country.—New York Sun.

When you meet a grouch on the street, smile at him; if you see him in church, sing to him; when he is at home, feed him; if he creeps into heaven,—but he won't.

Dad Small's Bad Luck.

(Cynthiana Democrat.)

Dad Small, who lives near Clayville, got a fall and broke his leg last Thursday after returning home from Cynthiana, where he had delivered his tobacco. Just about a year ago, while returning from Cynthiana, after having delivered his tobacco, Dad fell off the wagon and broke his other leg. It seems to be a habit. Hereafter he ought to reject all his tobacco that isn't high enough to include the cost of mending his underpinnings.

Interesting Old Paper.

(Danville Advocate.)

Mr. Eugene Cook of the Citizens National bank, this city, yesterday left the Advocate office a copy of the "Argus of Western America," a newspaper published at Frankfort, Ky., of date Friday, May 10, 1876. The publishers were "Gerard & Berry, Printers to the Commonwealth." This interesting old sheet was found among the papers preserved by Mr. Cook's mother, and though somewhat discolored by age, the letterpress is still legible.

Splendid Corn.

(Franklin Favorite.)

An ear of Hickory corn, which is to be seen in the Favorite office window, is a sample of the crop raised last year by S. F. Grance of Temperance. Twenty years ago Mr. Grance began growing this quality of corn, and has intelligently improved it each year. While only eight rows of grains appear on the cob—a peculiarity of Hickory corn—the quality is excellent and the quantity is in excess of most varieties with twice the amount of rows to the cob.

OUR DAILY BIRTHDAY PARTY.

February 22.

Lieut. Gen. Sir Robert Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scout movement, to promote good citizenship in the rising generation and give the boys an all-around foundation of character, is 59 years old today. General Baden-Powell has a long war record himself, has done some able scouting for the British government and is an entertaining writer. Like his father, who gave up his post of vicar of Plumstead, Kentucky, to devote his talents to science, philosophy and reform in education, Sir Baden-Powell was imbued with a greater idea than fighting. He has always opposed military training. His idea is that the success of a nation depends not so much upon its armaments as upon the character of its citizens. To make every soldier an asset to the nation, he believes it necessary to prepare him for a vocation in life and to supply practical moral training that he claims the public schoolhouse lacks. General Baden-Powell was born in England February 22, 1857, was educated at Charterhouse, and joined the Hussars at the age of 18. He served with distinction in India, South Africa, Zululand, Malta and other campaigns. For his services in the defense of Mafeking, he was promoted to major general. He organized the South African constabulary after the Boer war and rendered other services for the British government. His first book appeared in 1889, and in the following year he wrote his famous book on scouting. His book, "Scouting for Boys," was written about eight years ago, and his interest in the boy movement has been constant.

(Danville Advocate.)

SIMON AND THE CAT.

(Henry County Local.)

Simon, of color, who carries to the post office the many mail pouches that are thrown from the trains, found in the lot the other day one containing a squirming,扭ing and fretting animal—he knew not what. Greatly excited and uttering multitudinous, far-sounding words as he went, he soon delivered the pouch of unusual mail matter at the postoffice. The duty to open it devolved upon Simon. He did so cautiously and with fear and trembling. With final jerk the sack unknotted and out of it sprang into Simon's bosom a furlong "feline." At the same second Simon reverted to the type of his far-away ancestors amid the jungles of Africa. There was the same soul-curdling shriek of horror, the same ability to spring to great heights and to scamper like a wild tribesman affrighted. But he was calmed and survives the terrible incident. The cat was consigned to Mrs. C. R. Linney and she, "of course," is lamenting the animal's escape while her husband, the "consignor," is said to be inquiring of her by mail if she has received her birthday present. "Strange things are sent by parcel post these days," says Simon. It is not supposed that Ben or Miss Catherine would think of perpetrating so serious a thing for a practical joke. So it must be a transaction in due course of Uncle Sam's business.

THE WORST YET.

(Elizabethtown News.)
The bill introduced in the Legislature yesterday as a substitute for the Greene bills to put a stop to the Sunday saloons in Covington and Newport, was the worst ever. The bill proposed a state commission with county commissioners in every wet county to control and to issue all license to sell liquor with the right to revoke same or to refuse to issue in the discretion of the commission. This measure was distinctly a Governor Stanley's bill and he stood sponsor for it.

It would destroy local self-government and increase the sentiment for state prohibition. Worse than that, it would establish a perfect liquor machine in the hands of the Governor by which a most gigantic political organization would be built up, giving the Governor, through his commissioner, the absolute control of the liquor business.

No such political machine was ever dreamed of before in Kentucky and once established, the candidate for a state office who had its support would start out with a campaign with every city and wet county at his back.

In addition to this very dangerous and damning effect of such a law it would mean the creation of a lot of officers with a heavy expense upon the state. Governor Stanley was pledged against the creation of new officers, but his first deliberate act is to stand sponsor for a measure which would create them by the wholesale.

It looks very much like Governor Stanley was in a hole. He could not come out against the Greene bills, which would put a stop to Sunday saloons for it would mean political destruction to him, and he would not come out for them on account of the great hostility he would arouse among his political friends in Covington and Newport who elected him Governor and who are in full sympathy with the open Sunday saloon.

To avoid the issue he has favored something else, which to our mind would result in the submission of the amendment permitting a vote on prohibition. The news has stood for the county unit, principally upon the grounds of local self-government, but if Governor Stanley's bill should become a law we would have no ground to stand on in supporting the county unit as better temperance legislation than state prohibition.

FREAK STUNT OF HORSE

Entangled In a Fence, It Was There Three Days Without Food or Drink.

(Mt. Olivet Tribune-Democrat.)

A buggy mare belonging to Forrest Linville pulled off a freak stunt Saturday night that caused no little worry to her owner. She was hitched to the courthouse rack and between 6 and 7 o'clock broke the line by which she was fastened and disappeared, no trace being found of her or the buggy until Wednesday morning, when she showed up in a muddy, bedraggled condition, minus harness and buggy, near L. J. Kain's on East Court street. Diligent search and inquiry had been made for several days but all to no effect, the belief being prevalent that she had been stolen. Further search revealed the buggy and harness at the foot of the hill where the lands of J. W. Holmes and J. J. Rigg join at the branch. It is thought the mare, after breaking loose, started on a near cut toward Lame and when she reached the point on the branch got entangled in the fencing where she remained until she released herself. For over three days and nights she was without food and water, the weather rainy, sleety, snowy and at times below zero.

GOVERNOR TO OPPOSE NEW APPROPRIATIONS.

Frankfort, Ky., February 21.—Governor Stanley has reiterated his stand in opposition to any new appropriation which does not carry with it the means of raising the money to pay it. The Governor was asked what his attitude would be toward the proposed appropriation of $20,000 a year for the next four years for the work of the Literacy Commission in Kentucky. In a frank discussion of his attitude the Governor said:

"There are so many good things we could do if we had the money. I fully realize the value of the work of the Literacy Commission. But I would judge that there are as many adults of the age of 40 and beyond who are suffering from tuberculosis, a preventable disease, and there is some hope for these if action is taken promptly in their behalf. The man or woman who is suffering from tuberculosis is certainly in worse condition than the man or woman who may be suffering from ignorance."

"The expenses of the state are now $750,000 a year more than its receipts and we are paying $160,000 a year interest on money that we have borrowed or owe in the shape of outstanding warrants. I was up until midnight last night talking with bankers of Kentucky about bon issues, refunding plans and other propositions to restore and re-establish the credit of the state. The state needs every cent it has and a vast sum besides."

MOTHER KILLED BY ANGRY SON.

Frankfort, Ind., February 20.—Angry because his mother, Mrs. George Oliver, 49 years old, had reprimanded him for his indecence and drinking, Harry Oliver, 29 years old, shot and killed her and then attempted to end his own life by cutting his throat. She died before physicians could render any aid but young Oliver's attempt was unsuccessful, and doctors this evening said that he would recover.

GREEKS AND BULGARIANS CLASH.

London, February 20.—Patrols of Greeks and Bulgarians fought a sharp engagement near Dorian Thursday afternoon. The Bulgarian patrol crossed the frontier, according to Sionikli dispatch to Reuter's Telegram Company. The Bulgarians were forced to retire, leaving two men killed. One Greek soldier was wounded.

BRITISH AEROPLANES UNABLE TO CATCH RIVAL FLEETS FROM GERMANY.

London, February 20.—German seaplanes today made a raid over the east and southeast coasts of England, according to an official announcement made this evening. The total casualties are given as two men and one boy killed and one marine wounded. Considerable material damage was done.

The official communication says:

"Four German seaplanes made a raid over the east and southeast coasts at noon today."

"The first raiders, twin biplanes, appeared over Lowestoft at 10:55 a. m. and circled over the south side of the town for five minutes and dropped bombs. In about five minutes they rose to a great height and seemingly vanished. At 11:10 a. m. the two seaplanes were again over the town and then vanished eastward again."

KITCHEN DOOR LEFT UNLOCKED MONEY GONE.

The home of Rev. J. W. Simpson, 1221 East Second street, was the scene of a robbery Monday night similar to the McNamara robbery several weeks ago.

Rev. Simpson lately has complained his family about locking the doors and Monday night he awoke of his son Murray. If he had locked up, to which Murray replied he had—but the kitchen door was neglected.

When Rev. Simpson awoke Tuesday morning and looked for his trousers he found they had disappeared and supposed his daughter, Miss Lyle, had taken them downstairs to press them. He waited patiently until it was past his getting up time, when he got into another pair and started investigating. When he got downstairs he found none of the family yet up, but found his trousers on the floor and near them his empty purse, which had contained a $5 bill and enough other change to make $10. Murray made an investigation and found his own purse which had contained $2.50, also empty.

The thief secured more than $10 for his trouble. He overlooked a gold watch and some jewelry.

This is the third of a series of robberies in that section and the proper admonition is "Lock your doors."

It is reported that the Faile is taking twenty-eight barges of Pittsburgh coal from Belaire to Louisville for the Combine. It is a big tow for the Faile.

It is reported that the Helen E. will be entered in the Huntington and Louisville, Ky., trade up the big Sandy river by Captain S. G. Gardner. A connection will be made with the Bowyer at Huntington.

The sale of the Queen City to Captain William E. Roe by John W. Hubbard is now reported to be all off after the deal was partly made. It is said that Captain Roe has retired from the steamboat business and sold out all his holdings on the river.

The boarding of the towboat Enterprise in midstream near Gallipolis, O., and the alleged discovery that the safety valve had been tied down formed a subject of discussion among rivermen. Engineer Charles Cox was ordered to give bond for his appearance in the United States district court. He will be prosecuted under the admiralty law, it is stated. The boat was permitted to proceed and arrived in Cincinnati with its tow and is now on its way to Point Pleasant.

Captain William P. Hampton of Middleport, O., and one of the most expert pilots on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers is now on the big Pittsburgh towboat Haymond Horner towing coal from Cairo to New Orleans. The Horner recently started south with a heavy tow of loaded coal boats. Captain Hampton, a few years ago resigned the position of postmaster at Middleport as the salary was much less than he received as a southern coal boat pilot.

The towboat Sprague, the largest afloat, and owned by the M. R. C. & C. Co., or Combine, of Pittsburgh, was laid up at Calro, Ill., a few days ago and all of the crew but the mate paid off. The Sprague's crew have always been yearly paid men until the recent new order became effective which lets out all masters, pilots and engineers and stewards operating between Pittsburgh, Louisville and New Orleans. Engineer Fred German of Long Bottom, O., has been on the Sprague.

ONLY TWO MEN NOW WAR SECRETARY POSSIBILITIES.

Washington, February 21.—President Wilson plans to hold conferences this week with Congressional leaders which are expected to have an important bearing on the international and political situations and the administration's legislative program. Senators Stone and Williams, who are preparing to make replies in the Senate to the speech of former Senator Root before the Republican state convention in New York recently, will be among his first callers. Both Senators will defend the foreign policy of the government during the European war from the attack made by Mr. Root.

Mr. Root's reference in his speech to the failure of the United States to protest against the violation of Heligum's neutrality by Germany has caused administration officials to look up State Department correspondence relative to the annexation of Korea by Japan. It is understood that Senator Stone will refer to the latter incident, because Mr. Root was Secretary of State at the time.

During the week the President will seek to select a new Secretary of War. It was understood today that he had narrowed the list of men he considers available down to a few men. Either Secretary Houston or Thomas D. Jones of Chicago, were believed likely to be appointed.

DEATH OF JOSEPH HARNEY.
